

Dear Presidency Conference "Partnerships for Physical Activity and Sport - Be(come) Active!" participants:

Thanks for joining the Germany's Presidency Conference on Sport. We are pleased to see your name among the over 150 registered participants from more than 40 countries and we are very excited to welcoming you in our online event next month.

It is a pity that we cannot welcome you in Frankfurt, but we are seeing this difficult time as an opportunity. An opportunity to learn a new way of bringing people together, a new way of debating and cooperating, a new way of being more connected besides the physical distance. And it is with great joy that we see and understand your registration in this line of thought.

As we are in the last month before our meeting, we would like to share with you some information that will help you to prepare for the conference and have the best possible online experience:

Speakers Info

Following the main topic of the Conference, we have prepared a line-up of speakers that specialized in the topics from different perspectives. From academic researchers, to practitioners including policy makers and organisational leaders, all speakers will provide insightful perspectives in the subject and motivate you to reflect in your actions and think further to improve the quality of life of Europeans through physical activity and sport.

You can learn more about who they are and where they work, by clicking in their photos in the Presidency Conference website.

Extra tip: Our conference Moderator, Daniel Weiss, is not only and Award-winning commentator. He is also a well-known former athlete of Germany. He was Germany's figure Ice Skating champion in 1990 and 1991. Check his presentation at the 1998 ARD Christmas gala in Oberstdorf in here.

Guidelines

To secure a good roll-out of the conference from our side and for your better experience during the online event, we have developed a series of Guidelines that we kindly suggest you reading prior to the Conference. There you will find information about the platform and livestream systems to be used, how you can access the event transmission and a few tip and tricks to enjoy the event from the comfort of your own home/office.

You can download the guidelines in here.

Access link

If you registered as "Participate in the Online Conference", in the week before the event you will receive via e-mail the access link to the conference platform. On the day of the event, you will be able to access the platform and follow the event with the possibility to actively participate while using all available tools: chat function, reply to instant polls and camera and microphone activation during the Parallel Session. When accessing the platform, you will be asked to enter a name. We kindly ask you to provide the name and last name you used in the registration. That way we can easily find you in the list of participants and place you in the right Track and Round Table of the Parallel Session.

If you chose the option "Follow the Conference via Livestream" when registering, you will receive an e-mail with the access link to the livestream.

If by any chance you cannot attend and you missed the conference, the full event video will be available as Re-live in the website of Sportdeutschland.tv

News

If you want to keep updated with any new development regarding the conference, you can check the News section of the Presidency Conference website. Short articles with updates and current information are being posted regularly. Read the latest news in here

We also Invite you to follow the EU20202.de site and Social Media Channels to follow all developments of the Germany's Presidency of the Council of the European Union.

EWoS Opening

On 23rd September, Frankfurt will host the official opening of the European Week of Sport 2020 with a small-scale event in the iconic Alte Oper. The event will be livestreamed through Sportdeutschland.tv live worldwide for everyone to follow and will combine show performances with official greetings from German and European authorities.