

Prof. Dr. Petra Wagner

Since 2009 she is a professor for Health and Rehabilitation Sports at the University of Leipzig, and she is the Head of the Institute for Health Sports and Public Health of the Faculty of Sports Science. She received her Bachelor degree at the German University for Physical Culture in Leipzig and her Doctorate at the Faculty of Human Sciences from the Technische Universität Darmstadt. Her main areas of work are social and behavioral science aspects in health and rehabilitation over the lifespan, such as movement-related behavioural change and intervention and implementation research for movement related health promotion,